ACTACC Annual Scientific Meeting and AGM - London 2026

Message from the Organiser

Please join us at the Association of Cardiothoracic Anaesthesia and Critical Care Annual Scientific Meeting in London on 18th & 19th June 2026 to be hosted at 1 Wimpole Street, within the Royal Society of Medicine, London.

The theme of the 42nd ACTACC Annual Scientific Meeting is Exploring the Frontiers of Cardiothoracic Anaesthesia and Critical Care: Innovation, Education & Outcomes.

We will host eminent speakers and panel members from wide ranging areas including cardiothoracic anaesthesia & surgery, transplantation, intensive care medicine, monitoring, machine learning, ECMO, echocardiography and clinical outcomes. We plan to run hands-on workshops, including ECMO, TOE and Regional Anaesthesia, and have industry sponsored symposia on both days as well as a variety of topics such as Machine Learning and AI, Mechanical Circulatory Support, ECPR, Critical Care, Minimally Invasive Cardiac Surgery and Postoperative Outcomes.

The popular ACTACC abstract and poster sessions give trainees the opportunity to present their research in a peer reviewed environment with the best selected for the award prizes.

The topics for the two days will be selected to highlight the importance of innovation in the delivery of perioperative care and showcase recent advances and controversies in care. Delegates from varying backgrounds including consultants, trainees, SAS doctors, perfusionists and nurses are expected to attend. We expect around 200 delegates on each day from the UK and abroad.

There will be a Gala Networking Dinner on the Thursday evening where industry, delegates and faculty are invited to attend. There will also be a faculty dinner hosted on Wednesday evening for the invited speakers.

We really appreciate your support and look forward to welcoming you to London in June 2026.

See you there!

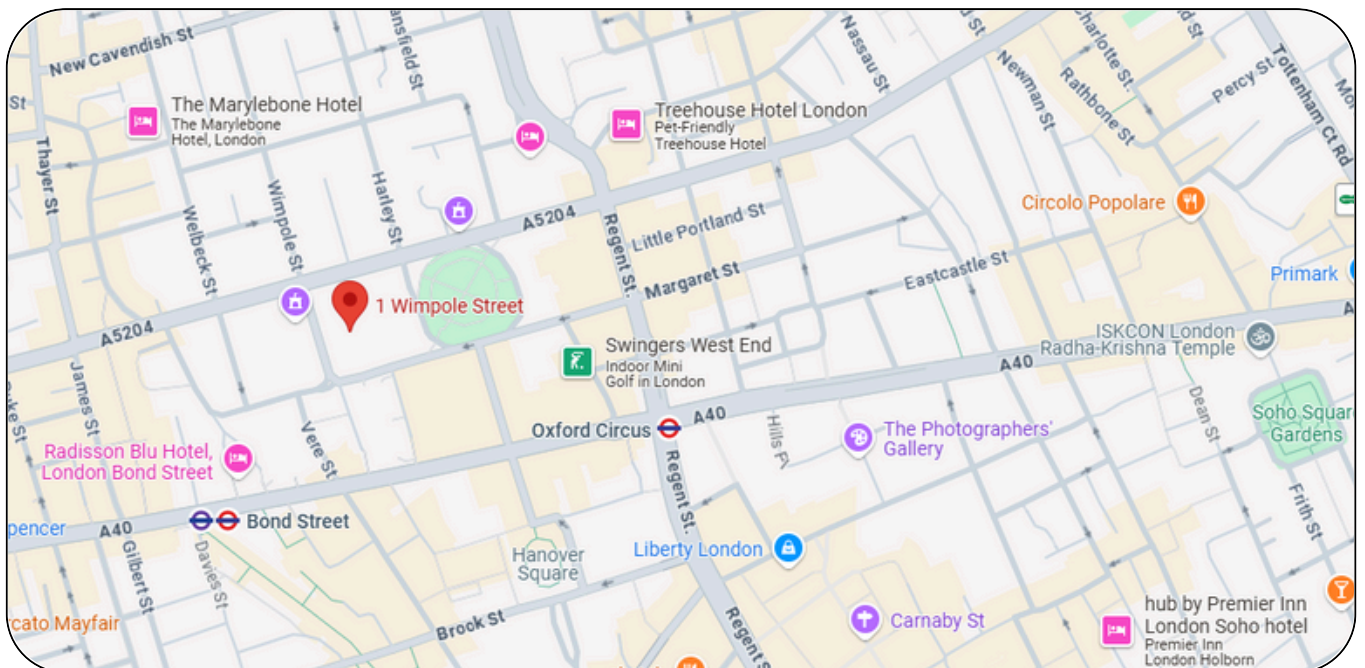

Dr Ben Silverman, Dr Chris Skeoch and Professor Gudrun Kunst
on behalf of the Local Organising Committee ACTACC 2026

The two-day meeting consists of a plenary session in the main auditorium and workshops delivered by a distinguished academic faculty from across the UK and the rest of the world including Europe and the USA.

The meeting will address the recent advances in the perioperative care of the cardiothoracic surgical patient, transplant patients, promote further education in cardiothoracic anaesthesia and critical care medicine and offer hands-on ECMO, TOE and Regional Anaesthesia workshops.

We are hopeful that the programme will generate significant attendance from the teams that care for these patients including Cardiac and Thoracic Surgery, Anaesthesia and Intensive Care, Respiratory Physicians, Cardiologists, Perfusionists, Nursing and other Allied Health Professionals and offer you unparalleled access to all grades and disciplines involved in the delivery of Cardiac and Thoracic surgical care.

The opportunity to host three industry sponsored lunchtime symposia plus one breakfast symposium will offer the chance to showcase the latest developments, technologies and discuss roles of AI and clinical decision support.
